Grenada County Cooperative Organized E. S. Davis, Jr., Named Manager

By J. L. Cooley, County Agent

The "Grenada County Cooperative" has been organized to operate our Cold Storage and Warehouse Plant with the following officers and board of directors: R. West, president; J. L. Elliott, vice-president; J. D. Ashcraft, secretary-treasurer; E. C. Hayward; E. L. Boteler, F. E. Gillon and H. J. Ray.

Mr. E. S. Davis, Jr., of Holly Springs, Miss., was selected as manager at a recent meeting of the board of directors. Mr. Davis will be in charge of the plant beginning October 1. He has had four years of refrigeration experience and three years experience in curing meats. In addition he has had four years experience in bookkeeping and plant management. Mr. Davis was reared on a farm and has completed three years of college training in the School of Agriculture at Mississippi State College.

Winter cover crop seed and basic slag fertilizer (50% lime and 12% phosphate) are stored in the plant and are now available to the farmers of Grenada and adjoining counties.

It is recommended that most farmers earn their $1.00 per acre soil building payment by planting winter legumes, terracing or by fertilizing pasture or winter legumes with basic slag instead of plowing under pea and bean vines. The soil building payment will almost pay the expense of these soil building practices.

Last year farmers could earn the soil building payment by only leaving the pea and soybean vines on the ground, but according to the regulations of the 1937 program the pea and bean vines must be plowed under. The practice of plowing under the vines is not recommended for hill land and all farmers are advised to cut or graze all peas and beans needed for hay and earn the soil building payment with the above recommended practices.

Tenants who share in earning the soil building payment are entitled to ⅓ the soil building payments. It is pointed out that these tenants should share ⅓ the cost of planting winter legumes, terracing or fertilizing the winter legumes or pasture to make them earn their ⅓ share of the soil building payment. With the tenants sharing the expense of these practices and the Soil Conservation Program paying $7.00 per ton for the basic slag; 40 cents 100 ft. of terraces, these excellent soil building practices can be carried out at small expense to the landlord. All farmers interested in conducting these soil building programs should discuss them with us.

Our Negro Friends

By W. E. Boushe

In writing these articles of those who have contributed to the upbuilding of Grenada county from the pioneer days to present day it would be unfair not to devote special space to our colored friends who have done their bit in no inconsiderable way. In writing of the early white settlers I mention the roads, ditches, terraces and draining the malarial swamps clearing the wilderness making them habitable and productive by our fathers. But after all the hands that toiled the backs that bent, the brows that sweated to do these things were our negroes. The negroes came to this country as slaves unjustly so but faithful nevertheless, not only to master but to country as well and never have I known an old slave to speak of his old master but who did so with pride and affection, even though that master may have been unkind and sometimes cruel and not deserving his good will. And too often today when the race suffers you hear some ignorant person say that this is a white man's country. Who said so? Did the Indian? Did the Lord who said the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof? Or perhaps did the Japanese who knock at our door today? The first man to die for the independence of America was a negro, Crispus Attucs. They served in the civil war in the northern army. When the war ended they were being recruited for southern service, where they would have fought with valor, even though this service would have forged their bonds tighter. During the civil war they fed the southern armies and built their forts and were a home defense to southern women. Today when a negro commits a crime against whites he is perhaps mobbed, the race condemned. A white man committing a worse crime is probably called insane and forgotten about. They pay special tax for white schools without murmuring. There are those who will contend they do not pay for what education they receive. That is not true. They pay just as whites in proportion to their wealth. They are the most docile labor on earth, patient and long suffering. They are the best neighbors one ever had, always willing to divide the loaf. They nurse us when we are babies, and when we are sick, are our playmates when we are children, our shade trees when we are grown up. They bury us when we are dead, they sorrow with our relatives at our tomb. Often you hear the word social equality. That is a word of designing politicians. Then you hear the words bigoted and impudent negro. A person can usually find what he looks for, the beam may be in the searcher's eye. I do not see them. The negroes of Grenada county are industrious and exceptionally intelligent. They have nice exhibits at our fairs. They, many of them, own their own homes. Others are prosperous renters. Of course there are many, negroes just as there are many whites, who believe the world owes them a living and are not so scrupulous as to how they get it, and cannot see the justice of work but these are in the minority.

In writing, I would love to mention the good negroes of long ago, now gathered in, Uncle Frank, Billie, Wilson, Fred and John Corley, and many others. I would love to write a separate article on each of the negro boys who made me such wonderful playmates, John Eddie, Dave Wilson, Tom Caffey, and Jennings Henderson. The outstanding negroes of our community today are King Anderson, Allen Milhouse, G. L. Ankton, George Wall, Peter Carew, Dr. O'Neal, William Jolliff, Mose Lamon, and Prof. Moseley. I would love to write on the many good negro preachers I have known, Burt, Martin, Merryweather, Weathers, Carew, and many others but space does not permit. Of the preachers of today, prominent are Rev. Williams, Forman, Peterson and Titus. Nor must I forget Jemes Topp. I have known him always, from a boy, honest and upright, a good boy, a good man, a good preacher. Vera Sledge, the Colored Economic Agent is doing good work for her race and county as well. Moseley is the principal of public school of Grenada and is very efficient. Dr. O'Neal is a prominent doctor, well thought of by white and colored. Many negroes have gone away from here and made good in other fields.

One of the sons of Clem Ransom is a lawyer for Madam Walker's beauty preparations, establishment at $10,000.00 a year. J. J. Hoover is a prominent doctor of Terre Haute, Ind. As I have said in a previous article, the vices of the negro race are largely enheritant from their white neighbors, their virtues, which are many, are their own.

Grenada Visitors

(J. K. M.)

Mrs. Seldon Jones and her son, Seldon, Jr., have been visiting friends and relatives in Grenada. Seldon, Jr., has been with his running-mate Billy Hoffa. He is a Senior this year at the Oklahoma State University, majoring in journalism and specializing in advertising. He is learning not only how to write an advertisement, but how to make it attractive. This brings into his work a development of his drawing ability. This character of work is more attractive financially than newspaper reporting. The bread and butter of the men who write depend upon the advertising division. They get and write the shop news, that is the pay dirt of the newspaper world.

Mr. Will and Mr. Ben Winter came up from their home at Pocahontas to spend part of a day with their sister, Mrs. Townes and their niece, Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Will Winter was with them.

Those two gentlemen are well remembered in these parts and have a host of friends. Mr. Will regretted that he could not visit Coffeeville where he spent the younger years of his life working for the Newbergers. He promised to return soon and spend a while at Coffeeville and mingle among his old time friends.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Ray Walter Johnson and Pierce.

Washington, D. C.—Europe's war postponed say the experts - postponed at least until spring because the various army staffs are still haunted by the recollection of Napoleon's disastrous Moscow winter a century and a quarter ago. Nowadays if European wars don't start in the summer they don't start at all.

If the fascist nations are to fight and win, they must fight on land and win quickly. Sea power, even more than in 1914 is with the French and British. Today, in peace time, both Germany and Italy are short of food and cash and fuel oil. But - and this is the but that makes all predictions perilous. The dictators may come to fear that they will be no better off next summer. That British armanent will have increased, French preparations completed, Russia reorganized.

There is no doubt that the example of Japan blithely ignoring powers and leagues and continuing to slice off pieces of China is irking the dictators and whetting their appetites. Germany and Italy have almost nothing at stake in the far east and it is no secret that they have watched Japan's activities with satisfaction, hoping that these acts would goad Britain and Russia to a state near war which would so occupy them that Hitler and Mussolini could openly help General Franco to victory and add Spain to the list of fascist states.

Equally there is no doubt that without the menace of the dictators neither Britain nor Russia would have stood idly by in the present Sino-Japanese affairs.

On the home front the high cost of living has gone out of the hole it crawled into back in the nineteen-twenties and will plague the administration all winter. And it will probably produce a new plan of controlling profits in industry that will be a digest of the NRA the wage-hour bill and a number of other measures new and used.

It is hinted that a government check-up has uncovered examples of profiteering in foodstuffs and rents that will make the income tax evasion expose look like small change.

A quiet but thorough housecleaning is going on in several branches of the government, notably the state department, and to a lesser extent the war department. And the rumor persists that now Edward F. McGrady is no longer on hand to smooth the surface of the labor department, certain weaknesses are bound to come to life and cause a renovating there.

National party chairmanships are again the talk of the town with the opinion being that John D. M. Hamilton will retain the Republican because of his strength with the young G. O. P. and his money gathering ability. Mr. Farley, so they say, is going to the motor industry - or run for governor of New York - or perhaps have a try the Presidency.

And on the eve of the New York Mayorty primary, Alfred E. Smith, once the favorite of the sidewalks of New York, speaks to a nearly empty hall.

Mouth Hygiene Dramitized

Necessity of mouth health for competent school work was dramatised in a play staged at the board of health last week by health department workers.

Written by Miss Gladys Byrich, supervisor of mouth health, "Tales of a Tooth Tour," gives a panoramic view of dental health work throughout Mississippi.

Those who took part in the "toothseeing" tour were Miss Byrich, Miss Sarah Hill, dental hygienist of the Hinds County health department, Miss Lila Mae Herring and Miss Eleanor Hassell, of the board of health.

Actual incidents occurring in the daily work of hygienists form the basis of the play. Interesting and instructive facts are revealed and the dangers of mouth neglect made plain in no uncertain manner.

In Hinds County, three little children recently have been hospitalized for pyelitis caused by abscessed baby teeth. Frequent findings show that too early loss of baby teeth is one of the main causes of crooked permanent teeth. Badly decayed and abscessed teeth cause children to be slow in school. Poor dental health results in a devitalized physical condition, preventing perfect school attendance.

The manager of a resettlement project in Sunflower County, amazed at unhealthy mouth conditions found by the dental hygienist, made provision for a dentist to do the necessary work. In one day, 26 abscessed teeth were extracted among the 15 children cared for.

A recent survey of mouths among Alcorn County 4-H girls was encouraging. Of 237 examined, 50 per cent had OK mouths.

There are 13 dental hygienists in the state. Full-time programs are carried on in seven counties—Bolivar, Hinds, Jones, Lauderdale, Pike, Warren and Washington. Part-time services of six itinerant hygienists are available to other counties.

The mouth health program of the board of health reaches out to include people everywhere. Whatever the walk in life, teeth exert a mighty influence. They are a necessary adjunct to good health, good looks and good work. The state board of health furthers these personal assets by every means at its command.

Will Participate At Free State Fair In Jackson Oct. 11th

State Game and Fish Commission Plan Largest Display Ever Entered

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 23—The State Game and Fish Commission will participate in a big way in the annual Mississippi Free State Fair opening here October 11.

Plans for the commission's part in the six day exposition were outlined by George Weathers, commissioner of Greenville, who said the largest display ever entered would be a part of the exhibits.

"In addition to the largest exhibit ever displayed at the fair, the commission will conduct a motion picture review every night, in which activities of the conservation department and the sportsmen will be shown," Commissioner Weathers said. "The picture, depicting scenes in Mississippi, will not only be educational, but interesting and enlightening."

"Wildlife in its natural surroundings, linked with the work of the commission in seeking to conserve and propagate the animal, fish and bird life, will be featured in the show, which will be free to the public," he explained.

The commission will also enter the Monday and Tuesday parades.

Mr. Weathers said the varied exhibits of the commission will be made up of live animals, birds and fish, as well as all types of reptile. There will also be mounted birds and animals in scenes of their natural surroundings.

"Our live wildlife exhibits will feature everything from rabbits to bears," Commissioner Weathers said.

"We are anxious for the Mississippians who will attend the fair to visit the commission's exhibit," he said. "It is an educational course in itself of the wildlife of the state."

Members of the commission plan to be here during the fair. Besides Commissioner Weathers, other members are Chairman W. E. McIntyre, of Brandon; Secretary Ben M. Stevens, of Richton; Col. Reuben R. Banks, of Columbus, and Col. Edgar W. Wright, of Centerville.

Si Corley is director of conservation, and W. F. Dearman, assistant.

Scout Merit Badge Eposition Success

"The success of our Merit Badge Expositions in Greenwood and Clarksdale last fall has created a demand on the part of the Scouts and Scoutmasters of the Delta Boy Scout Council that this type of activity be made a part of the program this year" stated Dr. H. C. Green of Clarksdale, Chairman of the Activities Committee in an interview regarding the fall program.

The Activities Committee has decided to hold one big Council-wide Exposition in Greenville early in December and has already secured the backing of the Greenville Rotary Club. Sidney Moyse, L. A. Wass, John S. Kirk, Lyne Starling, James S. Crump, and Forrest Murphy compose the Rotary Club Committee.

The purpose of the exposition is to provide an activity for the troops and give opportunity for demonstration of the educational and vocational values of the Merit Badge program. It is expected that at least twenty-five troops thruout the Delta will participate in the exposition, as well as a number of Cub Packs.

Manual of instructions covering the selection of Merit Badge subjects for demonstration and preparation of the booth will go forward to Scoutmasters this month. Awards will be made to the troops based on the most effective display and demonstration of the Merit Badge subject selected.

Grenada Girl Receives Honor

Blue Mountain, Miss., Sept. 23.—Miss Minta Dawson, of Grenada was taken into the Modenians of Blue Mountain College during rush week just closed.

Like Smith, Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Mt. Holyoke, and Wellesley, Blue Mountain College never has had sororities; and, like Princeton University, it has no fraternities. Instead, the Eunonians, Euzelians, and Modenians, mutually exclusive groups, are the mediums of extra-curricular expression.

Miss Dawson gratudated from the Grenada High School in 1937.

Tenth Enrollment Period Of C. C. C. During October

Large Requisition Anticipated For Both White and Colored Juniors

The State Department of Public Welfare is now preparing for an anticipated large requisition for white and colored juniors during the October 1937 Tenth Enrollment Period of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

The County Welfare Agents of the Department of Public Welfare throughout the State have been advised of this expected large requisition and are making every effort to have all eligible applicants to place an application.

It is suggested that all Juniors who are interested in enrollment in the Corps contact immediately their respective county Public Welfare Agents. All Juniors who are interested must be accompanied by the responsible head of their family when they contact the agent.

Applicants must be unemployed and in need of employment. However, preference of selection is given to applicants who are members of families receiving aid from Old Age Assistance, Works Progress Administration, and Resettlement Administration. Other applicants, if not receiving relief in any form listed above, will be eligible if they are found to be unemployed and in need of employment, the job training, the educational and other opportunities offered by the Civilian Conservation Corps; and are themselves members of families, which, due to financial limitations, are not in a position to secure or provide comparable experience and training.

Partial requirements for selection and reselection are as follows:

1. The applicant must be between the ages of 17 and 25 both inclusive.
2. The applicant must be unmarried.
3. The applicant must not be regularly enrolled in school.
4. The applicant must be mentally and physically fit and weigh at least 107 pounds.

Former honorably discharged enrollees, desiring re-selection, must also qualify under the above requirements and shall have been out of the Corps six months from date of discharge to date of re-enrollment. They must not have previously served over a total of eighteen months and their discharge certificate must be free of the statement "Not worthy of re-enrollment." Administratively and dishonorably discharged former enrollees are not eligible for re-selection and re-enrollment in the Corps.

It is again suggested that all interested in enrollment in the Corps contact immediately their respective County Public Welfare Agents.

ALL TEACHERS MUST HAVE LICENSES

Any teacher paid in full or in part out of public funds in the State of Mississippi must hold a teacher's license valid for the scholastic year in which the school is taught. This includes teachers in the county school system, separate school districts, and agricultural high schools. A great majority of teachers of the state have a license issued either on college work or are exempt because they have taught five consecutive years on a first grade certificate.

Professional life licenses are granted to teachers who are graduates of any of the recognized colleges of the state providing they have earned not less than eighteen semester hours in college work in Education.

Sophomore licenses are granted to those who have finished two years of college work in a standard college in the state and have had twelve semester hours in Education.

It is necessary, however, in either of the above cases for the license to be issued before a person is eligible to teach. These licenses are issued by the State Board of Examiners in Jackson.

County Superintendents, superintendents of separate school districts, and president of agricultural high schools and junior colleges are requested to make a close check and see that all teachers employed by them have a license valid for this school year.

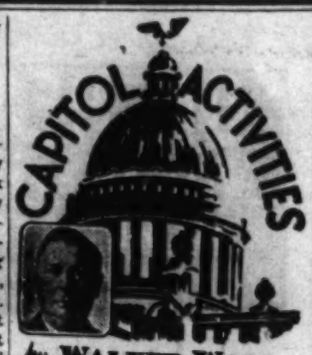
9-23, 30, 10-7 1123w



The State Budget Commission, represented in full by Governor White, ex-officio chairman and director; Hon. Alf Stone, assistant director; Hon. Buford Yerger, secretary; Mr. Leigh Watkins, statistical expert; and leading legislators, comprising Lieut. Governor Snider; Speaker Fielding Wright, Representatives Joe May, E. T. Woolfolk, W. A. Williams and Thos. L. Bailey, and Senator John Kyle, held a conference at the governor's mansion some days ago, to discuss a tentative budget for that biennium of July 1, 1938 to June 30, 1940.

Back in the bienniums of 1928-1929 and 1930-1931 were years in which living conditions were high and prices high. They were similar in conditions and prices of today, and prospects are that they were not even equal to what may exist during the biennium of 1938-1940.

Yet in the biennium of 1928-29, the budget amounted to $29,500,000, and for the biennium of 1930-31, the budget amounted to approximately $31,000,000. Thus, these two biennial budgets totaled $60,500,000 for the four years, or an average of about $15,000,000 per year, in round numbers.

I am using these two bienniums, or four years, because during this period as stated already, conditions were practically the same as to prices and costs of operation as they are at present and doubtless will be for the next three years.

Now, in addition to the average of fifteen million dollars per year, as stated, at the close of 1931, for current expenses, there was a deficit amounting to approximately six million dollars, which would run the average yearly cost up to about $16,500,000 per year, or thirty-one million dollars per biennium.

In 1928-29 bonds were maturing and interest due amounting to $1,850,000, and in 1930-31 there was paid for bonds and interest due $3,500,000, these figures being in round numbers. For illustration let's deduct the total bonds and interest paid from the total budget and resulting deficit for the foregoing four years. We have a total of $5,200,000 bonds and interest paid to deduct from a total of $60,500,000 budget and deficit for the same four years, leaves a round number sum of $61,300,000, or an average of thirty million dollars for the two-year biennium. In the biennium 1938-40, there will be due in matured bonds and accrued interest $8,660,000, and this sum will be paid out of the budget. Admitting that the unofficial tentative budget, as published, amounted to $35,000,000, if you deduct $8,600,000 from the budget, you will have left for operative expenses $26,400,000, or $13,200,000 per year.

Boiling it all down as to the net budgetary expense of operation for the four years 1928-1931, carried an average of $15,000,000 per year, while the net budgetary expense of operation for 1938-1940, based on a $35,000,000 budget will be only $13,200,000. Hence it can readily be seen that economy is being observed in every way by the State, and its departments and institutions.

The following meeting, however, did not attract any considerable interest and a second meeting was to have been held on September 17th, but was called off. I understand that the original plans have undergone some changes, and it is merely conjectural as to what strength the movement will acquire.

Among all other taxes imposed, I believe the sales tax is the most equitable, because it distributes the burden of taxation to practically every citizen, in proportion to his or her means. If a man is wealthy and buys in large quantities, he of course, pays a sales tax in proportion, and likewise the smaller salaried man or wage earner, white or black, who does not buy a great deal, does not pay so much, but he pays his share.

Along this line, I might add another feature. Here in Mississippi, we have approximately a 50 per cent negro population, and the majority of negroes are not propert owners, and hence pays no taxes, but they enjoy our improved roads, paved streets, schools, and many other conveniences and necessities that it requires taxes to pay for, and with the sales tax, they have an opportunity to pay their share.

Announcement is made from Washington, D. C., by the federal roads bureau that Mississippi has been alloted three more million dollars federal aid road funds for the fiscal year 1938. The bureau stated that this apportionment has no connection with Governor White's highway extension program.

The State Highway Note Commission, composed of Governor White, Attorney General Greek L. Rice, and State Treasurer Newton James, last week sold four million dollars of highway notes, or bonds, to a syndicate of Louisiana, Mississippi and Eastern bond buyers, at an average interest rate of a little less than 3 3/4 percent. The interest rates of different series were as follows: Bonds maturing in 1938-1940 inclusive—3%; Bonds maturing in 1941 and 1942—3½%; Bonds maturing from 1943 to 1947 inclusive—3¾%; Bonds maturing in 1948 to 1950 inclusive—3½%; and Bonds maturing from 1950 to 1954 inclusive 3½%.

Many state bankers were present at the bond meeting, amply prepared and determined to buy the bonds if the syndicate failed to offer a satisfactory interest rate. At a previous meeting of the highway note commission four per cent rate was the lowest bid offered, and the commission very promptly rejected the bid, the Governor being quoted as stating that the bond bidders at that time had formed a combine, and refused to entertain the bid. Quite a saving of approximately $60,000.00 in interest was affected by the sales on September 14.

On bonds of the highway commission, previously issued and amounting to fourteen million dollars, the state has already called and paid 1½ millon dollars of these unmatured notes, in addition to paying off short term notes as they fell due.

Another victory in the state program for balancing agriculture with industry was won on Tuesday, when the citizens of Winona, Montgomery county, voted a $35,000.00 industrial bond issue to secure an attractive new industry for that city. The election was held under the provisions of the Industrial Act of 1936, and the vote stood 260 for the issue to 110 against the issue, which won by more than the necessary two-thirds majority of those voting, as required by law.

After enjoying summer vacations here and there, all members of the Mississippi Supreme Court have returned to their duties, and the fall session of the high court was opened on Monday of last week. The first day, as is usually the custom, was devoted to memorial services in memory of state bar members who have died during the past year.

On last Thursday in a well planned program, the first definite work in transforming the historic Natchez Trace Parkway, which years ago was a mere Indian trail from Nashville, Tennessee, to Natchez, Miss., into a 460 mile highly improved highway, took place, with ground-breaking ceremonies at Madisonville, a little town along the route of the Natchez Trace, and about eight miles east of Canton. Both Governor Hugh White and Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee were invited to attend this occasion, as well as a number of state officials and prominent citizens throughout the State.

The Mississippi Highway Commission has received the approval of ten projects by the bureau of public roads at Washington, and there are now being advertised and bids will be received covering these are now being advertised and bids will be received covering these ten projects on Tuesday, September 28th. The entire work will amount to approximately $1,300,000.00. The projects comprise paving contracts on U. S. 84, in Jones and Wayne counties; on U. S. 80 and 11 and Mississippi 19, in Lauderdale county and in Meridian; on U. S. 61 sharkey county; on U. S. 49-west in Sunflower county, and on U. S. No. 11 in Clarke county. Also two grade crossings in South Jackson; twelve miles of paving in Hancock county on U. S. 90 and grading to eliminate two grade crossings between Coles and Crosby in Wilkinson-Amite, north of Gloster.

The State Board of Health, with Dr. Felix Underwood as executive officer, has been receiving some very satisfactory letters from over the state over the program instituted by Dr J. L. Dugger, state factory inspector, concerning examinations of factory employees. One of these recent letters from a large manufactory states that the physical examination of employees there is productive of splendid results, inasmuch as when any defects are found, immediate steps are being taken to correct same.

Forest Fires

(J. K. M)

Fire has not wrought such havoc as they have done in South Mississippi. However, they have done enough damage and it is high time that we prevent fires all together. Mr. Merrill, chief of State Forestry Division, will put his organization to work. From the watch towers eagle eyes will look the surrounding country over to discover the beginning of the fire that everything may be done to stop its spread. His department can do nothing without the cooperation of the farmers who must aid to prevent spread and help in giving the alarm.

What would Grenada do today without a saw mill pay roll? Our future depends upon the use made of our timber. We must preserve what we have at all hazards and do all we can to stimulate the growing of more timber that means more jobs.

Be a conservationist, help to build up and not destroy.

CARD OF THANKS

To those whom I have not been able to reach personally or by card I wish to use this means to express our appreciation for what the people have done for us during Tommy's illness. We could not have come out so victoriously had it not been for the good doctors and the prayers of so many good people.

Oh, the world is wide
And the world is grand
And there is little Or nothing new
But the finest thing is the Grip of the hand
Of a friend that is tried and true.

Twentieth Century Club.

Sept. 21, 1937, the Twentieth Century Club met in the home of Mrs. Hurd Horton, with Mrs. R. F. Matthews as co-hostess.

Roses, zenias, altheas, and other garden flowers were used as decorations.

Besides the twenty-six club members, there was present the following guests: Mrs. Ethel Theil, Mrs. H. W. Baker, and Mrs. Clara Atkinson, of Kosciusko, the mother of Mrs. Matthews.

Continuing the subject—"Modern Plays and Playwrights," the play selected for the afternoon's study was "In Abraham's Bosom," by Paul Green.

This play is one of six, written for the negro Theatre and won the Pulitzar Prize. Mrs. Eugene Davis interestingly gave the life sketch of Paul Green, mentioning many of his modern plays, mostly all dealing with the negro.

Paul Green was born in the back-woods of North Carolina. He was a self educated man, a graduate of the University of N. C. and of Cornell University. He joined the 105 Engineers Corps of the World War.

He is a splendid musician, interested in negro spirituals and writes lyrics folk-lore drama. Mr. Green's critics say of him, he enjoys indecency because men and women have so much of it in their nature.

He is a poet striving to express through the Theatre what he feels about life.

"In Abraham's Bosom" is a tragic drama portraying the hereditary and environment of a cosmopolitan born negro, in all his primitive basic nature; his desire to lift his race, his failures and tragic end.

Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt, covering every scene, the playwright had so emotionally dramatized, brilliantly presented this drama of conflicting natures in the race problems of the play.

Several entered into a round table discussion on Abraham. Personally, this writer thinks it should been on Abraham's father or another Green. Anyway it was all very interesting.

Miss Helen Horton delighted the club with a piano selection, "Improvisation and Melody" by Arthur L. Brown.

At the conclusion of the program, the hostesses assisted by Elizabeth Horton and Josephine Ashcraft, served a lovely delectable fruit salad, with wafers, ribbon sandwiches and pickle.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

SENATOR RITCHEY'S ANTI-SALES TAX MEETING

At a recent meeting in Jackson of a small group of citizens, some favoring repeal of the sales tax law, Senator Ritchey asserted that certain records in the State Tax Commission dealing with sales tax payments by individuals and public service corporations are not available to the general public. He stated that "we have an invisible or secret Government in the Tax Commission."

If we have an invisible or secret government, which we do not, in the State Tax Commission it is the fault of the Legislature. Senator Ritchey is a member of the Legislature. The Tax Commission is neither an executive or judicial branch of our state government. It is an administrative body, administering only the laws delegated to it by the Legislature.

Section 14 of Emergency Revenue Act of 1934, commonly known as the sales tax law, reads as follows:

"LETTERS IN REPORT NOT TO BE DIVULGED

Unless in accordance with the judicial order or as herein provided, the members of the State Tax Commission, its agents, clerks or stenographers shall not divulge the gross income, gross proceeds of sales or the amount of tax paid by any person as shown by the reports filed under the provisions of section 5 and 6 of this act, except to members and employees of the state tax commission, and the income tax department thereof, for the purpose of checking, comparing and correcting returns, or to the governor, or to the attorney general, or any other legal representative of the state in any action in respect to the amount of tax due under the provisions of this act."

If Senator Ritchey wants sales tax payments made by the taxpayer to the state made public we suggest that he introduce a bill to this effect at the next meeting of the legislature. If the legislature should pass such an absurd law it will be one of the most atrocious pieces of legislation ever crammed down the people's throat since Mississippi became a state. Until the legislature takes this step the Senator should not condemn the Tax Commission for not making public information which the law requires them not to divulge.

If some of our legislators would review the audit reports of our various state departments they would be saved the trouble of concocting letters in the form of questionaires which requires time, trouble and expense for the heads of the departments to comply with. Most of the information requested in these questionaire letters is to be found in the audit reports compiled by Certified Public Accounting firms. The salaries of state employees are on record in the office of the State Treasurer and are open for inspection by anyone desiring the information. But we doubt that our legislators, those who are always trying to break into print, will avail themselves of this information.

It has been intimated that railroads and other public utilities are under assessed. The State Tax Commission is charged with assessing the public utilities. In the case of twelve utilities, which we have knowleged of, with an estimated value of $49,879.00, the combined assessment for 1935 was $28,494,118, or a ratio of assessed to values of 57.1%. For the same year the Tax Commission estimated the value of property of the Mississippi Power Company in nine counties in Northeast Mississippi at $1,035,271 and this property was assessed at $638,993 or a ratio of assessed to value of 62%. The Tennessee Valley Authority bought this property for $850,000, or $185,271 less than the value placed on it by the Tax Commission. If this sale represented the value of the property then the ratio of assessed to actual value was 75%. If this utility was under assessed we suggest that no future assessments be made. The state should confiscate the property and be done with it.

We failed to note where Senator Ritchey advocated any other form of taxation to take the place of the sales tax in the event it is repealed. Our schools and various departments of state government must operate and they must have funds on which to operate. "We can't havt our cake and eat it too."

THINGS ARE NOT WHAT THEY SEEM

Things are not always what they seem to be on the surface. For instance the neutrality law which was recently enacted would probably have a different result that was intended if it were placed in effect. If shipments of goods to China and Japan are prohibited then Japan will benefit and China will be penalized as Japan can send ships here for their needed goods—an action that is not prohibited under the neutrality law. China has no ships and for that reason could not do this. It is well that the neutrality law has not been placed in effect.

Furthermore this fact shows that this nation will have a hard time being neutral in any major war for while strict neutrality is a high sounding phrase, the enforcement of such law may find obstacles in the way.

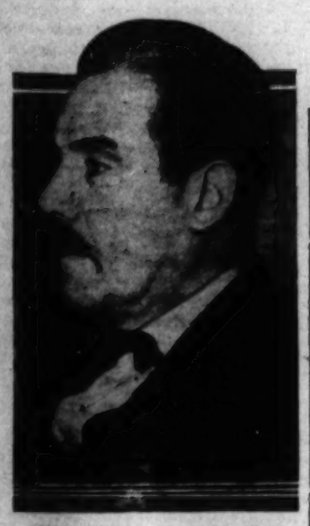
"Everyman's Fair," Says Whalen



NEW YORK. (Special).—Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, announces that official support and foreign participation in the New York World's Fair of 1939 are reaching new "highs" and that here is an already obvious opportunity for every state to display advantageously its accomplishments and future possibilities and to join in making it one hundred percent "Everyman's Fair"

1939 World's Fair Has New Ideas About Amusement Features

NEW YORK. (Special).—"Only seeing will be believing," says President Grover Whalen of the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation, as he tries to envision what the Fair is planning, more than two years in advance, in the way of facilities for recreation, entertainment and amusement.

Every man, woman and child in the United States, he says, has an interest in the 1939 Fair and to some degree or other has a part in the building of that Fair. The exposition, therefore, will surpass all previous fairs, not only in the demonstration of the wonders of the world of present-day life and in the projection of the World of Tomorrow, but also in providing the utmost variety of entertainment and amusement for every man, woman and child

The entire world will be tapped for every amusement possibility. The tiresome mediocrity of stunts and side shows—the stock-in-trade relics of the amusement world of yesterday will give way to a new and modern standard of excellence. The plan of the New York World's Fair has anticipated the requirements for entertainment and is making them a part of the general scheme of the Fair, rather than allowing them to spring up as an appendage or an afterthought. Even the tiny children will have a playground reserved exclusively for their own use.

The Mississippi Crop and Seed Judging Team composed of Glen Peeples, of Grenada county, Joe Denman, Jr., of Tallahatchie county and Wilson Edwards, of Sunflower county, won first place at the Tri-State Fair held in Memphis last week. They were awarded a trip to Chicago where they will represent Mississippi at the International Livestock 4-H Club Teams from all over the United States.

Joe Denman, Jr., completes his seventh year as a 4-H Club member and enters State College this month as a freshman. His savings from his club work will go a long way toward paying his college expenses.

Glen Peeples completes his fifth year in 4-H Club work and is a member of the junior class of the Grenada High School. He won the 1936 state championship in peanuts and was awarded a $50.00 watch as a prize.

He also won first place in 1934-35-36 in the county with peanuts and first place at the State Fair in 1935.

Glen is the second Grenada high school 4-H Club member to win a trip to Chicago for club work. In 1936 Everett Taylor won a trip for growing sweet potatoes.

RA HELPS TO IMPROVE LIVESTOCK

Forrest, Miss.—The cooperative purchase of these double standard, registered Herford bulls will enable over 50 farmers of limited means to improve their herds in Scott county.

The five blooded animals, ranging from one to one and a half years of age, were purchased from a Texas breeder by the Resettlement Administration and placed at the disposal of farmers of Scott county through cooperative service loans. Minimum service fees paid by participating farmers defray original cost and upkeep of the animals.

"Successful rehabilitation of low income farm families in this county must be accomplished by a route other than cotton," William J. Davis, Scott County RA Supervisor says. "Most farmers have small herds of cattle from which they derive meager incomes. By replacing scrubs with pure bred bulls we have found that income is materially increased and upkeep costs are no more."

There are 10 cooperative and two individual purebred bull projects in Scott county. Participation is not confined to RA farmers but includes all farmers of limited means in the community who need the services.

Farm Boys Encouraged to Grow Quail

The W. P. A. cooperating with the State Game and Fish Commission has inaugurated several projects in connection with the Plant and Animal Survey Project that will be helpful to farmers and land owners. Two of the more important are the quail conservation project, designed primarily for 4-H club members and Smith-Hughes vocational agricultural students, and the pond improvement project.

In each county there is employed a Conservation Inspector. The Conservation Inspector is thoroughly qualified to furnish information and direct activities of those who wish to engage in these projects.

The quail project is to encourage agricultural students to become acquainted with the life history of the bobwhite quail and to interest themselves in correlating plant crops and quail crops in their farm management programs in such a way as to produce a maximum crop of quail under natural and improved farming conditions and so insure eventually a normal supply of quail in every part of Mississippi for all legitimate purposes of food and sport, for agriculture benefits, and for aesthetic appeal.

Boys who are 12 years old and above, 4-H club members, of Smith-Hughes vocational agricultural students are eligible provided the boy, or his parents, owns or has a long lease on 60 acres or more of land—part of which is in cultivation.

Directions, advice, material, etc., will be furnished by the county Instructor on the WPA Plant and Animal Survey Project, the assistant county agent or county agent and the Smith-Hughes Vocational teachers of the county.

The boys will improve the natural conditions on the farm according to directions so the farm will be inviting to quail and will protect the quail from its enemies. He will also make a special supervised study of quail, submit maps, surveys and reports as called for and do other interesting and educational things pertaining to this project.

First, second and third prizes will be offered to winners in the quail project contest. These prizes are being offered by public spirited people who are much interested in the restoration of quail in Mississippi. The following will be a basis for judging the contest which will run through the nesting and breeding season of 1938:

Improvement of Farm Conditions (Cover, Food, Protection from enemies, Enforced posted).

Increase in Quail (Number pairs of nesting quail, Number of coveys, Number of quail, percentage.)

Records (Map—accuracy, neatness, promptness; Surveys — accuracy, neatness, number, promptness; Answers to 30 questions—neatness, accuracy; Reports—neatness, accuracy, promptness.)

Time for enlisting in the quail project contest will be extended until the latter part of September and Miss Estelle Rollins, 407 Doak St., Grenada, Miss., will be glad to take applications for participation in the quail project contest and will be glad to furnish information about the fish pond project.

WORKING MAN'S PHILOSOPHY

There are times when a man thinks he can't tho' he can
And distressin' this flight may appear
But he's due for a fall when he tries not at all.
Just laziness then and not fear,
For there's room for the guy who is willing to try,
And a place for this fellow to fill
But there's none for the man who starts only to stand,
And remain a-standing there still.
It's the guy who puts out that takes back in
The good things in life must keep movin',
You do fully your part when you drink to the heart,
To stop goin' in life ain't behoovin'
No good comes from shovin' but joy is in loving,
In helping your partner get by
And it helps things along to keep hummin' a song,
To rest your eyes on the sky,
For the God of the trees makes the cool summer breeze.
To help out the guy that moves on
And with this help we're able to stand staunch and stable,
To push our loads on toward the dawn.

age 16 years.

PLANNING PARAGRAPHS

Application of the Plan

After all the preliminary inventories have been made, enabling legislation enacted, a state program initiated, and local planning units organized, the actual, tangible planning begins. As previously suggested, applied planning depends largely upon the intelligence and vision of the people themselves—the citizens of the community. When they appreciate their problems and become earnestly desirous of solving them planning need no longer go begging. Until they assume a favorable attitude toward suggestions for improvement the Planner's role must be that of educator. Not before he has demonstrated the advantages accruing from effective applied planning can he enjoy the public favor that his work most certainly deserves. To begin, he must be satisfied with a few examples to illustrate the value of planning in terms of dollars and cents.

Let us consider briefly the most apparent land-planning problem in Mississippi, that of State-owned land. These areas have reverted to the State for non-payment of taxes. Why? Either because they were sub-marginal themselves, or because their operators were sub-marginal farmers. When we know that certain areas have returned to the State as many as five times in a few years we begin to suspect that the operators were not to blame; agricultural utilization of the land will simply not yield a living. Each re-sale simply sentences a farm family to a term of poverty.

No state should encourage suffering by selling to individuals lands which have produced nothing more abundantly than failures! It should rather retain such lands as public property and use them for forestry, recreation or other purposes beneficial to the State and the general public.

When the planner suggests public ownership of sub-marginal land the tax-payers immediately counter with the over-worked tax argument—"If the State owns the land it will yield no revenue!" Their argument is utterly ridiculous! In the first place, the lands yielded no taxes, and therefore reverted to the State. Further, public services, such as roads, schools, etc., maintained by the county and state, involved huge expenditures without any possible return. Thus, we see that an area of sub-marginal land under private ownership may be very definitely a liability rather than an asset. The cost of field surveys to classify state owned lands and assign them to proper uses under private or public ownership would be insignificant compared with the foolish waste of money to provide a minimum of public services stranded families that might better have been removed long ago or, better still, never have been permitted to settle where they are.

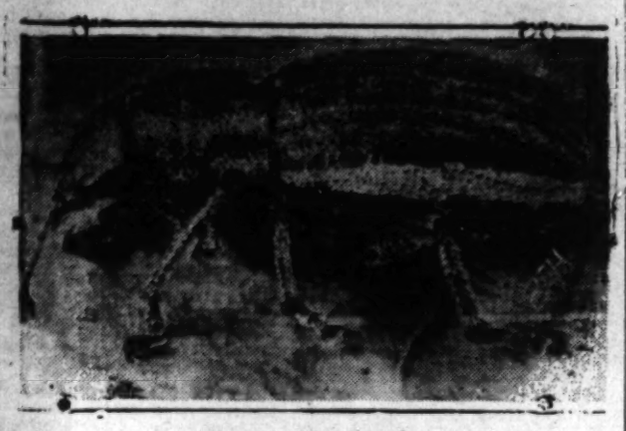
Where Nature absolutely forbids sustenance by agriculture neither the State nor the individual can prevail against her! Both must learn to abide by her dictates and abandon conflicting enterprises! There lies the crux of the whole problem!

Before we leave our discussion of state-owned land let us say emphatically that the retirement of lands sub-marginal under present economic conditions does not mean that they must always remain in forest. Not at all! And here we may illustrate the need of elasticity in zoning laws or laws governing land use. Sub-marginal land is land which, by current practices under prevailing conditions of supply and demand will not yield a livelihood. Since supply and demand are variable, land which is now sub-marginal for agriculture may be profitably cultivated in years to come, or land now profitably cultivated may become sub-marginal. If we discover fifty years from now that certain forested lands can be more profitably used for agriculture we'll amend our laws and clear them. Meanwhile, even if we can't realize profit from them, which, in fact, we will, at least we can preserve them until they are needed.

Finally, let us outline briefly how applied planning by counties might effectively proceed. The first need is coverage by aerial photographs for construction of an adequate base map. Several counties have already been photographed. The second need is a comprehensive land-economic survey to classify every land unit according to physical conditions such as slope, drainage, erosion, and soils, and economic conditions, such as ownership, present use, density of population, and scale of living. The State Planning Commission is prepared to begin survey work as soon as necessary funds become available and the counties show sufficient interest in the work. Since only a few counties can be mapped each year the State shall have to assume an attitude of "first come, first served."

A complete land-economic survey will be the basis for improvement or adjustment of land use, and rural zoning will be the ultimate means of securing necessary changes. A satisfactory land-use program cannot be drafted or initated before specific needs have been shown by a survey. Adequate land surveys are our immediate planning need in Mississippi, and they involve an investment which our citizens cannot afford to postpone much longer.

RELUCTANTLY INTRODUCING



The white fringed beetle

This insect, recently discovered in Mississippi, seems to be one of the worst crop pests known, judging from the damage it is causing in a small area in Alabama and Florida. It preys on the roots and plants while in the larvl stage and turns to the foliage after it emerges.

There is no very satisfactory control for this beetle, which is twice the size of a boll weevil and somewhat like it in appearance. The fact that the grub never comes to the surface of the ground makes chemical treatment in that stage impractical on a large scale.

The State Plant Board is cooperating with the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine in an effort to eradicate this pest from Mississippi. Thorough clean-up measures have been used and it is hoped to keep the beetle from being scattered over the state.

The people of Mississippi are requested to send any beetles that resemble the one pictured above to the State Plant Board at State College for identification. A distinguishing characteristic is the white fringe on the side which is clear in the above likeness of the beetle.

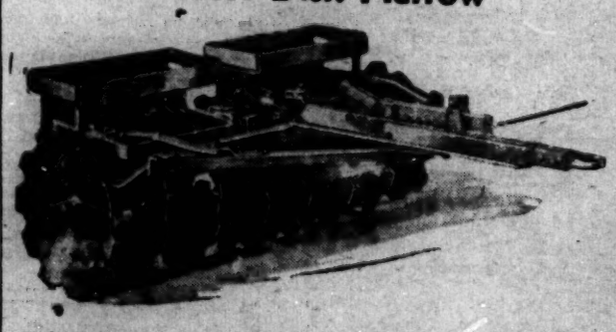
McCormick-Deering Bush and Bog Tractor Disk Harrow



A Strong, Light Harrow Built for Work Behind Smaller Tractors

FOR a number of years there has been an increasing need for a light bush and bog tractor disk harrow for use with the smaller sizes of Farmalls and other tractors. The new McCormick-Deering Light Bush and Bog Tractor Disk Harrow meets this need. It has an unusually strong truss-type angle-steel frame and big 20 or 22-inch cut-out disks spaced 9 inches apart.

The cut-out disks cut stalks better than conventional disks and prevent uncut stalks and trash from being pushed ahead of the disks. Wide spacing provides good penetration. The weight boxes are extra large and strong. The crimped-center disks are extra heavy gauge and are heat treated. Full-blade, rigid-type, heat-treated scrapers are adjustable and keep the entire inside of the disks clean without attention from the operator.

Two sizes are available—a 6½-foot size with eight disks, and an 8-foot size with ten disks. Ask us for complete information.

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

About once in a full moon I get studious and kinda think about stuff, like, why such and such is so and so, or vice versa. And it got to runnin' through my head the other day, why do some people do things like shoot their better-half, when it is not so long ago that they was breakin' their necks to get each other.

And what I am scribblin' about, I cannot answer it either, but they all say they did it on the spur of the moment and did not have time to think. So maybe it means that we need more time to sit down and ponder beforehand, like in a church maybe, and not do the ponderin' afterwards in a jail.

And some jokesters, they will say it is O. K. to shoot your husband if he snores, but in real life, and when you are in the morgue afterwards, it is something different.

And there are lots of theories that are just theories and don't work out so hot in practice, like Uncle Sam goin' into all kinds of business, but it looks like this church idea, it might save some geezer's hide, now and then.

Grenada High School News

Pastors Visit School
By Nadine Moss

We were very fortunate in having with us at our first chapel program for this school year four pastors, Reverends Liles, Pharr, Parks, and Henderson, who gave words ofwelcome and encouragement to the students and the faculty of the High School. After we had sung several songs, prayer was offered by Reverend Parks, and Scripture was read by Rev. Pharr. Then each pastor gave a short talk consisting chiefly of greetings and good wishes to the students and teachers. Special greetings were sent to the new members of the faculty and the student body. After Mr. Rundle's greeting and announcements we adjourned, feeling that our first chapel program for this year was well illustrated by Rev. Pharr's topic, "Grandly Begin; Grandly End."

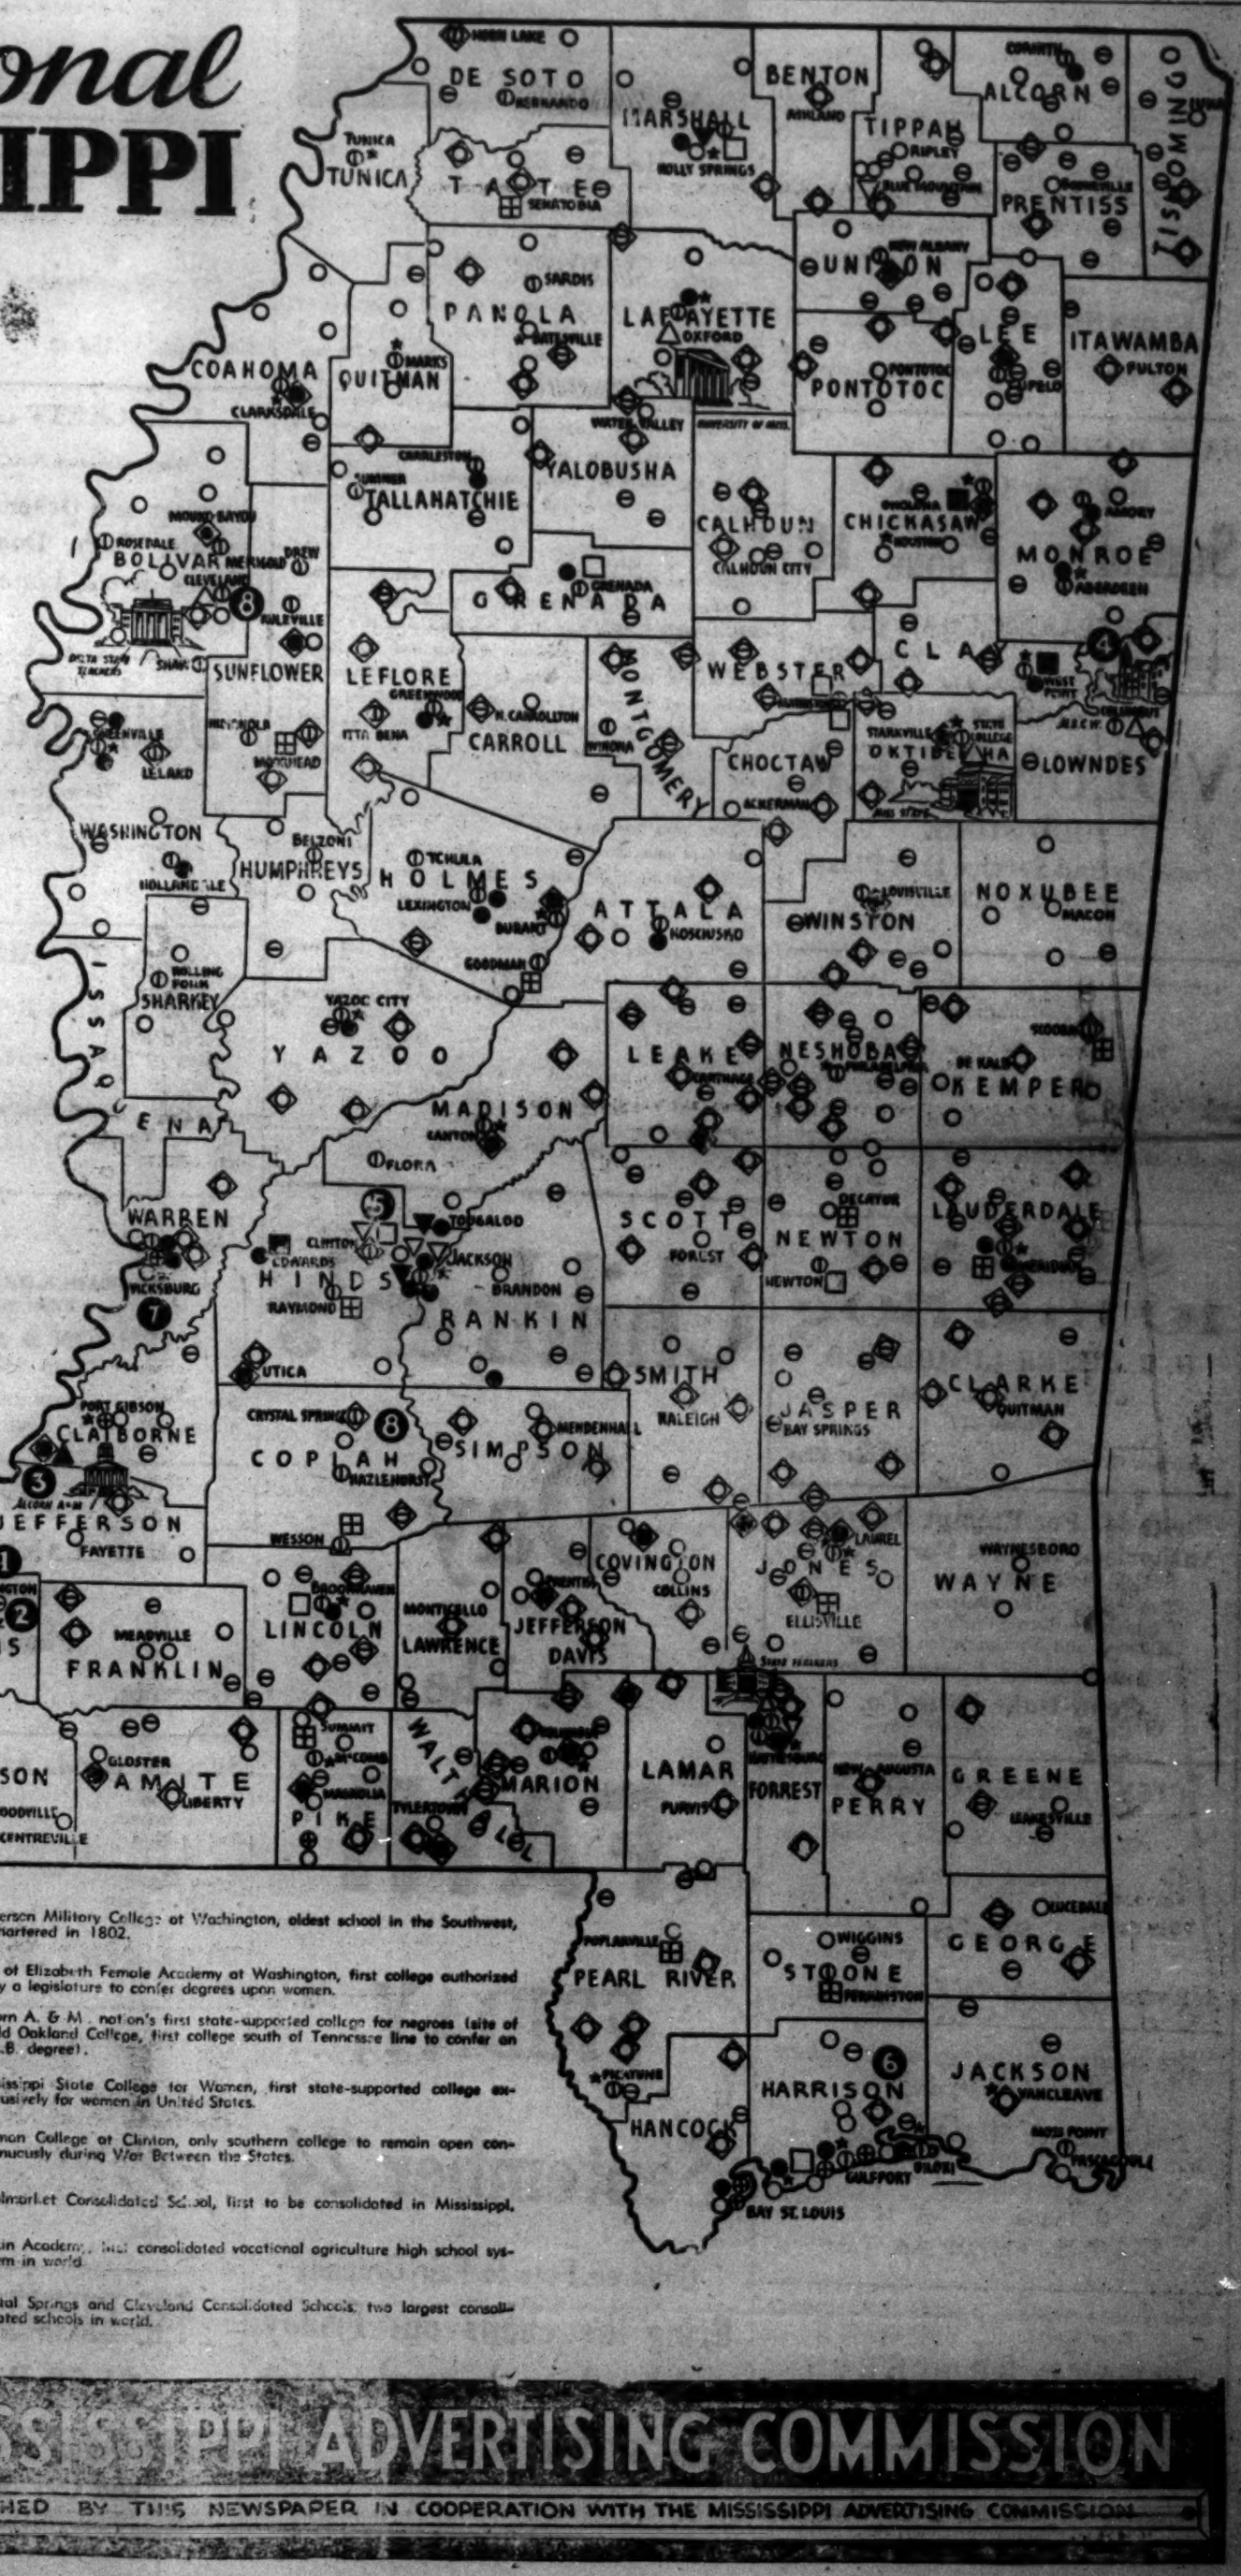
Educational MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi in the last generation has achieved remarkable results in her campaign to provide accepted educational facilities for all her young people. In spite of the handicap of a scattered rural population with a consequent low income for the support of schools, Mississippi, as this map will indicate, now affords to every section of the state a standard high school, junior college, and senior college. Her educational system has won world wide attention for its pioneering leadership in rural school consolidation, the development of publicly-supported junior colleges, and vocational education.



- Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture departments (shown only in 4-year schools affiliated with and approved by State Accrediting Commission).
- 4-year schools affiliated with State Accrediting Commission (white).

Mississippi's present educational system has its roots in a consistently distinguished tradition of educational pioneering. Since the territorial period Mississippi schools have been a fountain supplying leadership for the nation both in trained men and women and in ideas. The mark of achievement set by such institutions as Jefferson Military College, Elizabeth Female Academy, Oakland College, and the University of Mississippi, and by such educational leaders as A. B. Longstreet, F. A. P. Barnard, and Stephen D. Lee, is a glorious heritage for modern Mississippi schools.

This map was prepared from information and statistics furnished by the State Department of Education and by the State Library Commission. The map together with supplementary narrative in folder form is available to schools, civic clubs, and chambers of commerce upon request.

1. Jefferson Military College at Washington, oldest school in the Southwest, chartered in 1802.
2. Site of Elizabeth Female Academy at Washington, first college authorized by a legislature to confer degrees upon women.
3. Alcorn A. & M., nation's first state-supported college for negroes (site of old Oakland College, first college south of Tennessee line to confer an A.B. degree).
4. Mississippi State College for Women, first state-supported college exclusively for women in United States.
5. Millsaps College at Clinton, only southern college to remain open continuously during War Between the States.
6. Woolmarket Consolidated School, first to be consolidated in Mississippi.
7. Culkin Academy, first consolidated vocational agriculture high school system in world.
8. Crystal Springs and Cleveland Consolidated Schools, two largest consolidated schools in world.
